OTHER BOOKS BY THE AUTHORS

By David G. Goodman

In English:

- Long, Long Autumn Nights: Selected Poems of Oguma Hideo, 1901–1940 (Winner of the 1990 Columbia University Translation Center Award)
- Five Plays by Kishida Kunio
- Japanese Drama and Culture in the 1960s: The Return of the Gods
- Land of Volcanic Ash
- After Apocalypse: Four Japanese Plays of Hiroshima and Nagasaki

In Japanese:

- Hashiru [Running]
- Fujisan mieta—Satoh Makoto ni okeru kaku-me no engeki [Mount Fuji Perceived: The Revolutionary Theatre of Satoh Makoto]
- Isuraeru—koe wo kao [Israel: Voices and Faces]
- Tōbōshi [My Escapology]

By Masanori Miyazawa (in Japanese):

- Yudayajinron-ko: Nihon ni okeru rongi no tsuseki [Theories Concerning the Jews: An Investigation into Debates in Japan]
- Nihonjin no Yudaya-Isuraeru ninshiki [Japanese Attitudes Toward the Jews and Israel]
international network of right-wing antismites and Holocaust deniers who have been increasingly active in recent years.

Like them, he denies that he is hostile to Jews, but he idealizes Hitler and Stalin.

Like them, he claims that the Holocaust is a Jewish fabrication.

Like French Holocaust-denier Robert Faurisson, whose work he cites, Uno claims Anne Frank’s Diary is a forgery.

And like German revisionist historians, he argues that while they may have killed hundreds of thousands of Jews, Stalin and Hitler did so only in self-defense.

Uno’s international connections go beyond these intellectual affinities, however. He heads the Japanese branch of the Washington-based Liberty Lobby,37 which the Anti-Defamation League of B’nai B’rith described in 1988 as “the most active anti-Semitic organization in the [United States].”38

Another Liberty Lobbyist with whom Uno works is Dale P. Crowley Jr., a fundamentalist Baptist minister who describes himself as “fanatically insane, raving right-wing.”41 Crowley speaks Japanese, which he presumably learned as a missionary, and visits Japan frequently. The Liberty Lobby’s weekly tabloid, The Spotlight, reported on one of his visits in the following terms: “A staunch America firster, Crowley spent two weeks in Japan as the guest of Pastor Masami Uno, an economist and clergyman who is concerned about the growing Zionist influence in his country. Crowley, who is fluent in Japanese, addressed groups of business executives, many of whom were CEOs of their companies.”42 A videotape of one of Crowley’s joint lecture appearances with Uno is available and can be rented at Japanese video stores.43

In 1991, Uno published The International Jewish Conspiracy: An American Account, which he cobbled together from Crowley’s antisemitic work.44

Uno is also linked to American political extremist and antismite Lyndon LaRouche.45 Uno published Confessions of the Jews, which was purportedly authored by two American Jews, Paul Goldstein and Jeffrey Steinberg, and translated by Uno. Goldstein and Steinberg are listed on the masthead of LaRouche’s magazine EIR (Executive Intelligence Review) as “Directors of Counterintelligence.” In 1987, both men were indicted for obstruction of justice in connection with LaRouche’s trial for fraud in his 1984 presidential campaign. Among other things, Confessions of the Jews accuses the Anti-Defamation League of being an international criminal conspiracy that runs drugs and maintains rings of prostitutes to raise funds for its manipulation of U.S. corporations, a charge that Steinberg developed in articles like his 1990 “Tax-Exempt Treachery: A Profile of the Anti-Defamation League.”46 Steinberg has also accused Amnesty International of being a “support organization for Soviet-sponsored international terrorism.”47

Uno has translated the work of legitimate foreign authors, insinuating that they share his antisemitic views. He has translated Arthur Koestler’s The Thirteenth Tribe: The Khazar Empire and Its

42. Spotlight, February 27, 1989, p. 13.

43. Uno Masami and Dale Crowley, Jr., Yudaya ga wakaru to Amerika ga miete kuru [If You Understand the Jews, You Will Understand America] (Chūō mondai kenyū sentaa, 1989). This is a video tape of a joint lecture appearance by Uno and Crowley at the Osaka Nakanoshima Kōkaidō on September 18, 1989. It is one of a series of video and audio tapes produced by Uno's Middle East Problems Research Center.

44. Yudaya no kokusai senryaku: Amerikajin kara no shōgen [The International Jewish Conspiracy: An American Account].

47. King, Lyndon LaRouche and the New American Fascism, p. 178.

50. Japanese title: Yudaya kongekushon [The Jewish Connection].

57. Yakuwokurou no kenge naga tabi (Libriyu shuppan, 1988).

59. The program was aired on July 7, 1991.

